

Abstract

A pliers-like puller for inserting, or extracting, a plug from a corresponding socket, where the plug carries a conductor that is attached to the plug, where one of the puller's jaws includes a tooth followed by an accommodation space for wings of the plug. A section of the puller's handles is bent to form a pistol handle-like gripping section.